The school

The CLI Dante Alighieri is a school specialized in teaching Italian language and culture to the foreigners. The school was founded in 1966 and has the authorization of the Italian government. It is accredited by ASILS (www.asils.it). The school is open all around the year.

Teachers and method

All the teachers are graduated in linguistic disciplines and they have attended training courses to teach Italian as a foreign language. The method direct and grammar considers the in depth analysis of the morphology and syntax which has to be applied in any number of authentic daily situations, as well as bureaucratic and other formal fields.

Group Courses “G”

Our language group courses (max. 12/13 students) form a carefully articulated teaching program in different levels, from the beginners to the advanced courses according to the European Framework. Each level lasts 4 weeks and it is possible to attend the school for any length of time between 2 weeks and 1 year. Each level gradually leads the student to a detailed knowledge of the grammatical and syntactical structure of Italian language. Before entering a higher level, it's necessary to pass a test. Each group lesson lasts 45 minutes.
