TEACHER TRAINING

TEFL/TESOL 180

Our TEFL/TESOL 180 certification course is designed for candidates with little or no previous English language teaching experience. It was started together with the University of Chicago and has developed into an internationally accredited and recognized initial teacher training program. It is also taken by candidates with some teaching experience who have received little practical teacher training and by those who want to stay up to date with trends in the world of language teaching.

This course covers the full spectrum of teaching languages from all levels and ages. It is a more complete teacher certification course than a CELTA and acts as a stepping stone to the Delta as well as other teacher training continual professional development courses offered at CA Institute as a host venue to NILE (Norwich Institute for Language Education).

We are the authors of the textbooks used in the TEFL/TESOL 180 certification course. The teachers have over 20 years experience in EFL teaching, teacher training, materials writing, conference speaking, and managing.
