Additional Info

Historically, Colchester is the oldest recorded town in Britain. There are old Roman walls in the city that date back nearly 2,000 years, and occupation of Colchester dates back even longer than that. It is often referred to as Britain's first city. Essex has the longest coastline in the UK (350 miles). Stansted airport is just a 45-minute drive away.

CURRENCY

The UK currency is the pound sterling (£/GBP). There are 100 pence, or pence, to the pound.

POPULATION

1.842 million (Essex)

LANGUAGES

English is the official language spoken in the United Kingdom.

Heritage

Colchester has a colourful history dating back over two thousand years. It's a history you can share by visiting the city's award-winning museums where you can see collections of international importance including the Fenwick Treasure and Colchester Mercury.

Cultural activities

At just a stone's throw away from the bright lights of London, arts and culture in Essex can often get overlooked by locals and visitors alike, but thanks to the lovely coast and close proximity to the capital, there is lots to explore for art lovers, nature lovers and families

Leisure time

Saffron Walden is home to the largest maze in the world. The maze is believed to be more than 800 years old, too! Essex offers a large range of fun activities from zip wires to sailing, and climbing to archery. There is something for everyone in Essex.

Learning

We support our students' learning process from all angles. We offer a comprehensive syllabus focused on communication skills.
