CHENGDU

Chengdu is a national treasure and panda's hometown.

With a recorded history dating back to the 4th century B.C., Cheng Du offers a variety of attractions. Arguably the most popular is the panda bear reserve on the forested edge of the city. Then, there is the renowned Sichuan Opera featuring the astonishing face-changing antics of highly- skilled actors. Cheng Du also is appreciated for its easy-going tea culture and the locals' passion for playing mahjong. Then, of course, there is the fiery Sichuan cuisine! Further, Cheng Du features excellent museums and archeological sites, as well as art and cultural events and activities – along with historic temples and monasteries where Taoism and Buddhism converge. Criss-crossed by the Jin, Fu, and Sha rivers, Cheng Du covers a total area of 12.3 thousand square kilometers (4,749 square miles) with a population of over 14 million.
