Effective English Training for Adults - General English / IELTS / Business English / ESP / Work Experience

English is something to use, NOT to learn - why our lessons work:

- > Students are individuals - we develop our own syllabus, thoroughly road-tested over the years, regularly updated, and reviewed multiple times by the British Council. This has been proven to deliver more of a student-centred learning experience than following a textbook. In other words, after establishing each student's individual needs, the teachers design student-centred lessons that focus on the language weaknesses and goals of the learners in the class. We aim to get as close as possible to the tailored experience of a one-to-one lesson within our group classes - a much more tailored experience than many schools can offer.
- > Progress is clear - from day one we build a Learner Profile for each student using our own placement test and needs analysis information. Students have progress checks at the end of each topic and personal tutorials with their teachers every week. This targets learning goals in a timely and precise way. Students' progress is assessed on what they can do with English as well as what they know. Each student will have a personalised student portal with helpful comments from their teachers and regular tracking of their progress through the CEFR language levels using our English Score system.
- > We know exams inside-out - we are a Trinity and TELC exam centre with examiners as part of our staff so students can prepare for and take these exams in our school. Our teachers have helped to produce official study materials and real exams so we can best advise students on effective exam technique. We also offer TELC exams in fields as diverse as Business / Hotel & Restaurant / Technical English for Engineers. We work with many corporate clients including IKEA, NHS, Sky, Red Bull, OneSubsea and many more.
