Why Phuket?

Phuket is Thailand's largest island and the most popular holiday destination in Southeast Asia. With its spectacular beaches, crystal-clear waters, picturesque landscapes, historical and cultural sights, as well as all imaginable entertainment amenities, Phuket really is a dream-come-true destination.

Vibrant, intriguing, fun - for sun, sand, great food and friends. Patong's 3 kilometre beach offers a great place to relax and enjoy the good life. You won't get bored either - there are all kinds of activities on offer: Learn to dive, go sailing or snorkelling, take a local tour, join in a local beach football match, or for complete pampering, visit a massage and spa. Day-trips are available to the outlying islands, to Khao Sok national park, elephant trekking, white-water rafting - the choice just goes on!

Phuket stats

Population:

Phuket has around 250,000 residents. The ethnic composition of Phuket is: Thai, Chinese, Muslim, Sea Gypsy, European, Indian, Arabic.

Climate:

Being a tropical island, Phuket's weather is affected by monsoon winds, which keep the island warm and humid throughout the year.

Hot season : December - April

Rainy season : May - November

Cool season : January - March

Boundaries:

To the North: Pak Prah Strait

To the South: Andaman Sea

To the East: Phang-Nga Bay

To the West: Andaman Sea

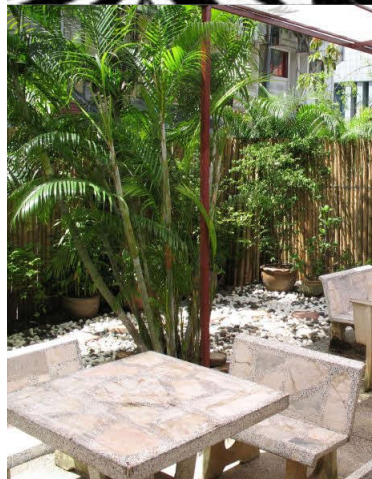

Geography:

Phuket is in the south of Thailand, 867 kilometers from the capital city Bangkok. The island lies in the Indian Ocean, from 7°47" to 8°18" North latitude and from 98°12" to 98°32" West longitude. The island is connected to Phang-Nga Province on the mainland by two parallel bridges, Sarasin Bridge and the newer Thao Thep Kasatri Bridge.

Phuket is Thailand's largest island, with an area of 570 square kilometers, surrounded by 32 smaller islands. At its widest point the island is 21.3 kilometers, while at its longest it is 48.7 kilometers.

The island is almost 70 percent mountainous, running from north to south across the western side. The highest point of the island is Mai Tha Sipsong Peak (Twelve Cranes), located in Tambon Patong, Kathu District, having a height of 529 meters.

The remaining 30 percent of the island consists of low plains and small streams, such as Khlong Bang Sai and Khlong Than Rue. These areas lie across the central and southern parts of the island.

PLS – Thailand's leading language school

PLS is Phuket's largest and leading language school. We have trained tens of thousands of students, and offer advantages that other local language schools simply can't provide: a developed language learning system, customised study materials, experienced and qualified native teachers, comfortable air-conditioned classrooms, and we are right next to the beach!

More than 25 years of experience – and still the leader

In 1983 PLS was the first language school to be granted a license to operate in Phuket. Many schools have come and gone in this time, but PLS remains the leader in the field. We have helped more students learn a language and improve their communication skills than any other language school on the island.

Tried, tested and proven

Our materials, developed over 25 years of language training, have been tried, tested and proven to work. We focus on keeping learning as simple and fast as possible, ensuring topics are interesting and relevant so that our students are 100% confident in speaking a new language.

Great location!

We are two minutes walk from the fantastic white sands of Patong beach – it doesn't get better than this!

Our teachers

All PLS teachers have at least a bachelor's degree, have complete an approved teacher education program (TEFL, TESL, TESOL, CELTA, DELTA), and are licensed by the Thai Ministry of Education.

Nothing is more important than your teacher

Great teachers make all the difference to your study progress, and that's why PLS teachers all have specialist teaching qualifications. PLS runs its own teacher training centre, which allows us to screen every teacher for their personality and ability to motivate, as well as their teaching skills.

Inspirational teachers to motivate you

Our teachers are exceptional in their ability to inspire our students to learn. Unlike the memorisation lessons used at regular schools, PLS teachers strive to make learning interesting and fun for students.
